Robinsons Savings Bank is now Robinsons Bank Corporation

Robinsons Savings Bank is now known as Robinsons Bank Corporation. The change in business name is a result of the recent merger of RSB with RBC as approved by the Securities and Exchange Commission on May 25, 2011. The merger vested the former RSB with a commercial banking license.

All PhilHealth members may continue to pay their premium contributions through any of RBC's 57 branches nationwide.

The complete list of RBC branches can be downloaded from www.philhealth.gov.ph. Further inquiries may be directed to Accreditation Division of Treasury Department at (02) 634-0239 or 441-7444 ext. 7407, 7460 to 62.
